NEW COAL DEAL ON.

Pennsylvania Trying to Secure the Hooking Valley Road.

And With It Control of the Entire Output of Its Mines.

Bill to Prevent the Deal Introduced in the Ohio Legislature.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 18.—The business session of the day in the reported attempt of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to secure control of the Columbus, Hooking Valley and Toledo Railroad, the most important and best paying of the distinctively Ohio roads, and the only line that connects the great coal region of the Hooking Valley with the lake region.

It has for some years made combinations for passenger and freight traffic with the Baltimore and Ohio.

The Pennsylvania Company has for a long time had its eyes on this property, which would give it complete control of the immense output of the Hooking coal mines, the most productive in the State.

A bill aimed at the Pennsylvania Company and the rumored consolidation of the Columbus, Hooking Valley and Toledo Railroad with it, was introduced in the State House of Representatives yesterday.

The special committee of the Legislature appointed last winter to investigate the occupation by the Pennsylvania Company of certain lands in Cincinnati yesterday made its report to the General Assembly.

It reported that the Railroad Company has no right to the land in that city occupied by it for the Little Miami depot and freight yards.

The demonstration was confined to that of some carriers, who had petitioned the city to withdraw the street cars and substitute sleighs, as the cars were ruining the streets.

It is charged that the street-railway managers deliberately discharged these men and encouraged the demonstration, so that they had engaged men to smash the furniture in the City Hall, if necessary.

NEARLY BEHEADED BY THE ROPE.

Actual Scene at a Murderer's Hanging in Scotland.

GLASGOW, Jan. 18.—A horrible scene occurred today at the execution of William McEwan for the murder of a woman at West Pollok.

McEwan, after attempting the crime, had attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat. The doctors succeeded in saving him, but he was in a very weak condition.

The condemned man walked toward the gallows, and the rope was adjusted. When the bolt was drawn the wretched man's head was nearly torn off, and blood spouted over his body and the gallows.

The drop was seven feet. Much indignation is expressed against the authorities for not having taken precautions against such an occurrence.

DUNN OFFERS LITTLE HOPE.
A Storm and More Cold Following a Rise in Temperature.

Navigation Practically Free Now in the Rivers and Bay.

The Prophet Elias, studying the horoscope in the Government weather bureau on the Equitable Building, still offers nothing for the shivering Geminians to hang warmer weather hopes on.

There is about three degrees more of warmth today than yesterday, with no wind and little humidity, and for this small boon the tide has not yet turned, for it will not last very long, if the prophet knows what he prophesies.

There is a rainstorm in the lower Mississippi Valley and a snowstorm over Michigan. Both are travelling towards New York.

One Believed to Be Dead; the Other Talks to His Rescuers.

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 18.—Two Polish miners are entombed at No. 5 Stockton mine, one is probably dead, and the other may be smothered before he is rescued.

The men were sinking a counter-shaft in the main shaft, when the fall of coal occurred. At 9 o'clock this morning the rescuers were able to talk to one of the entombed men. He said he had not seen his companion since the fall occurred.

It is probable that he is dead, and the one with whom conversation was held may die before he is rescued.

Great fields of ice are moving about the shore, and for this reason it is very difficult for the life-savers to get within hauling distance of the stranded vessel.

CROWDS AT HAYES'S TRIAL.
Chance that He May Be Indicted for Bigamy.

More Letters to Pretty Annie Keating Expected to Be Read in Court.

The third day of the trial of Col. William H. Hayes, indicted for perjury, opened in Part B, General Sessions, this forenoon, with every seat in the court-room occupied.

The disclosures made yesterday concerning the relations between Hayes and Miss Annie M. Keating, the State's principal witness, excited the court going public's appetite for spicy details, and the attendance was greater, if possible, than yesterday.

There was a promise of more letters to be read in court, and it was with disappointed looks that the few women, who had some way edged by the doorkeeper, left the room at the order of the judge.

When District-Attorney Weeks came into court he carried a big bundle of letters and papers. Asked if Hayes would be indicted for bigamy in view of the facts that had come out in the trial, Mr. Weeks said that he did not think so.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED.

Rescued After They Had Been Overcome by Smoke.

Fire broke out on the second floor of the rooming tenement at 400 West 12th street, Jersey city, about 10 o'clock this morning.

The flames were quickly extinguished, but the rooming tenement was occupied by the Hanson family.

John Hanson, a saloon-keeper, rescued Mrs. Hanson's two children, a boy of four and a girl of two years old, who had been overcome by smoke and were lying on the floor.

The children were badly burned about the hands, face and body.

When the firemen arrived they found all the children in the neighborhood arranged in a circle around a small stove, and a chemical engine had to be summoned.

Mrs. Hanson, the mother of the children, is recovering from her injuries, being afraid to let them be taken to a hospital, being afraid her husband would get possession of them.

IN THE "L'S" FAVOR.
Rapid Transit Commissioners' Plan Announced.

More Elevated Structures for the Prompt Relief of Traffic.

The Rapid Transit commission has issued its ultimatum, and in the series of resolutions adopted yesterday afternoon has declared that the only feasible scheme of rapid transit for this city is the extension of the existing Elevated Railway system, so far, at least, as the present conditions are concerned.

In doing this, however, the Commission reiterates its opinion that the proposed underground railroad provides the "only sufficient, comprehensive and effective system of rapid transit for this city."

For the purpose, however, of affording immediate relief, and pending the construction of such an underground railroad, the Commission declares that it is its duty to make provision for the rapid transit so urgently needed, by elevated railroads, so as to secure the highest efficiency of which they are capable; and that to do this, "the Elevated Railway system shall be so extended, within a reasonable time, to be prescribed, to transport passengers between the Battery and the northern limits of the city on both the east and west sides, at a single maximum fare of five cents."

The Commission furnishes voluminous reasons why this elevated system is the best, and asserts its authority for such action under the act creating the Board, and reserves to itself the right, where any additional facts or data are to be used for such extensions, to offer such a franchise at public sale.

GIVING HOPE TO HARRIS.

Newly Found Evidence on Which a New Trial is to Be Asked.

Although the action of the Court of Appeals, in upholding the decision of the lower court, naming Charles W. Harris to death for the murder of his young wife by poison, has seemingly knocked the last support from under Harris's hopes for a new trial, his counsel, William F. Howe, said today:

"I saw Harris this morning and got from him the name of the druggist who sold him Helen Potter's morphine, and also the names of several of the girls who were in the drugist's store."

The names were given, and the drugist, who was in the store at the time of the trial, and was not cross-examined, was asked to give the names of the girls who were in the store at the time of the trial.

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES DEAD.
His Life Terminated Suddenly by Paralysis of the Heart.

Funeral Set for Friday—To Rest Beside His Wife at Fremont, O.

FREMONT, O., Jan. 18.—The funeral of ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes will take place Friday afternoon, and his remains will be buried in Oakwood Cemetery beside those of his wife.

Ex-President Hayes died last night. He passed a fairly well day, and in the evening was resting nicely. The change from better to worse was rapid, and at 10 o'clock the ex-President passed away.

The first news of his death was received when Webb C. Hayes came downtown and quietly announced that his father had just died.

Mr. Hayes left home last Monday on a trip to Columbus, Buffalo and Cleveland, where he spent a few days with his son, Webb C. Hayes.

He started from Cleveland for his home in Fremont on Saturday afternoon. At the Union Depot, upon entering the car, he complained of exhaustion and asked for stimulants.

They were given him, and he refused to return to his son's home, saying: "I want to go home. I would rather die in Spiegel Grove than live anywhere else."

He was seized with violent pains in the chest, which lasted until after his return home. He was treated for angina pectoris, but while relieved of distress, his heart never recovered its vigor.

It was the second attack of the kind he had received within two weeks, and although his condition was regarded as somewhat serious and excited the alarm of his family, the encouragement given them by Dr. Hilbert, the family physician, led them to believe that the patient would soon recover.

Although Dr. Hilbert remained constantly at the bedside, no alarming symptoms appeared until last evening, when he became rapidly worse.

While dying he frequently referred to a visit made to his wife's grave on the preceding Sunday, and to the quiet beauty of the snow-covered landscape.

He said that he almost wished he was lying there by the side of his wife. It was all so peaceful, "and yet," he said, "I am not unhappy. My life is an exceptionally happy one."

The family were gathered around his bedside when it became apparent about 10 o'clock that the ex-President was sinking. His last words were to his family physician, Dr. Hilbert, to whom he said: "I know that I am going home, Lucy. The words were spoken distinctly, and his face bore a happy smile."

ROMAN BANKS IN TROUBLE.

A Cashier Arrested, One Director a Fugitive, Others Watched.

ROME, Jan. 18.—A deficiency of 3,000,000 francs is stated to exist in the Rome branch of the Banco Romano. The cashier has been arrested and a director has fled.

It is reported that the ascending director recently bought a ticket to the United States. Another rumor is to the effect that he has gone to Sicily.

Crave rumors are afloat regarding the Banco Romano, and the police have the directors under surveillance for fear they will run away.

The Banco Romano has recently been conducting negotiations with the Banco Nazionale, and there is a consensus of opinion that the only chance for the Banco Romano is a coalition with the Nazionale.

Financiers are greatly excited and there is also much excitement among depositors, many of whom will be ruined in the event of serious disaster to the Banco Romano.

800 DOLLARS OR 800 DAYS.
Billy McGlory's Fine for Contempt of Court.

The Ex-King of Dive-Keepers to Again Go to Jail.

The legal difficulties in which Billy McGlory, ex-king of the Dive-Keepers, got caught, after his place in the city was sold away for a year, through exposures made by "The Evening World," do not appear to have diminished during his imprisonment.

When he doffed his striped tunic on Blackwell's Island two months ago and returned to the city there were officers of the law waiting to receive him, but he very adroitly managed to keep himself unseen, at least by them.

For two years he has evaded the service of orders issued by Justice McCarthy, of the City Court, in various cases, with the result that the Justice became exasperated, and determined that such contempt of judicial authority could not be endured and that the much-wanted William should be punished.

Prior to his sentence to Blackwell's Island, McGlory had been served with an order to appear for examination in supplementary proceedings, a judgment in the sum of $100 having been entered against him by default, in favor of Samuel J. Lannan & Co., wholesale liquor dealers of Baltimore, Md.

McGlory ignored the order, and proceedings were brought to a standstill by his conviction. A new order was issued on the range of the court officers' vision, and therefore could not be seen.

David Leventritt, counsel for Lannan & Co., appeared in City Court yesterday and sought to have McGlory's property sold in satisfaction of the judgment, but the judge refused to order the sale.

The judgment of this court avers that McGlory is guilty of contempt, and that he is liable to be committed to the City Prison for each dollar of the fine or until the same be paid.

The commitment papers were made out this morning and will be delivered to the Sheriff this afternoon, when deputies will be sent out to find and arrest McGlory.
